THE FRENCH HAVE RETAKEN MULHAUSER

Washington, Aug. 20.—An official statement from the British government to the State Department at Washington says the German fleet outside the Baltic Sea is bottled up in harbors. While English commerce is almost normal, Seaborne commerce is almost paralyzed.

The statement says the Liege forts are still in hands of the Belgians.

HEAVY DROP IS NOTED
IN CUSTOMS RECEIPTS

The announcement of Ambassador Page from London that English membership service had been ordered to resume has, however, resulted in an easier feeling in importing areas.

W. M. Barnes, of Route 2, was here today on business.

J. L. Warren of Enterprise was here this evening.

ITALY FORCED TO TURN TO U. S. FOR PROVISIONS

Rome, Aug. 20.—Although Italy has on hand grain sufficient to last several months, the closure of the Dardanelles, through which the bulk of importation comes, and the suspension of exportations from Argentina compel the Italian people to turn to the United States for future provisions.

The government has already received offers from the American market, and the transportation of grain will be facilitated, as Italy will assume the war risks.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—E. J. Green, an Alabama farmer sent here to ascertain why farmers receive such small prices for their products, today told a meeting of the Municipal Market Commission that a profit from one hundred to five hundred per cent is made by commission men and retailers.

Mr. Green says potatoes sold by farmers for a cent and a half a pound bring five to eight cents at retail. Tomatoes sold for one cent a pound bring ten cents in the stores.

After being shadowed about town by Deputy Sheriff John Hillson, who kept well on the trail of the fugitive, Willie Simmons, who lives about seven miles south of Graceville, Fla., was arrested last night on a charge of grand larceny and locked in the county jail.

The charges were brought against Simmons by J. J. Hardy, who lives north of town. Hardy claims that Simmons stole three $20 bills from his trunk.

The arrest occurred when Deputy Hillson went to the home of a relative of Simmons and waited. Simmons soon came in the house from the rear, offering no resistance when the officer told him of the charges that had been brought.

STAY ON THE FARM AND BE YOUR OWN BOSS.

There is one thing we should like to urge very strongly in this issue, Mr. Farmer Boy, and that is that you stay on the farm where you can be your own boss, instead of going off to the city to be somebody's clerk or hired man—that is, unless you have some special marked and definite talent for some particular work.

It is true, of course, that the farmer does not now get all the profit he ought to get—nor all he is going to get—but it is also true that the workingman in the country fares better than the workingman in town. Read all you can, study all you can, and prepare yourself to be a good farmer—and a genuinely wide-awake, progressive farmer—and you will, nine chances out of ten, fare better than if you should go to town.

As we see it, the farmer's day is coming. The thought of the world is turned as never before to building up the country. The government itself which was once indifferent in protecting manufacturers, developing manufacturers, and building up the towns, is beginning to see that the source of all prosperity is the farm. But the one best sign is that the farmers themselves are getting aroused and studying their privileges and rights. Already, the awakening and organization of the farmers have resulted in untold good, and you ought to resolve now that there shall be a farmers' organization in your neighborhood as long as you live. If you are over 16 years old, join the Farmers' Union or whatever other organization is nearest you, and take an active part in it. Speak to your father about it.

Another thing which insures better times for the Southern farmer is this: For a hundred years until very recently we have had to compete with cheap-land farmers in the West. That is to say, any farmer could go out West and stake out a "homestead," and sell his crops without allowance for land values because his land cost him nothing, or practically nothing. But all that is past. The cheap lands of the West have gone, and now when the Western farmer sells his crops he must add $5 to $10 per acre as an allowance for rent or for interest on land values. And because of this fact crops simply can't be sold as cheaply as formerly.

Then, too, city populations have increased faster than country populations the whole world over, and it is becoming more and more difficult for the city people to get enough meat and food stuffs. There are several million more people in the United States than there were five years ago, while there are never enough animals to manure the land.

Meats must go higher, especially livestock.

One of the greatest of the world's students of rural problems declared recently that in the future labor on the farm is going to be better paid than labor in the towns, and we believe he is right. Stick to the farm. —The Progressive Farmer.

A NATION OF SPENDERS.

We are drunk of prosperity and it takes a calamity like war to make us stop and think.

So long have we enjoyed about everything we wanted, till there are few who believe we could make out with much less. We have let the spending habit grow on us till we yell hard times as soon as a few of our luxuries are chopped off.

Take the matter of sugar. Two weeks ago it was being retailed in Dothan for 5¢ a pound. Everybody could buy sugar, and they used it lavishly. Now it has nearly doubled in price. Has anybody bought less? Do they use less? Do they drink less soda-pop, and buy less gasoline for the "little sixes?"

We have contracted expensive habits. It takes a talk with civil war sufferers to understand just what economy is, and how little we can have and then pull through. Who is it in this country that can't get along well without sugar? We grow the finest sugar cane in the world, and the syrup we make will sweeten anything, from a sixteen-year-old girl, own down. Suppose all of Alabama, all of Georgia, all of Mississippi, and a few more cane growing states, were to quit buying sugar, wouldn't the price dinner down. Not many of us, as compared to the more densely populated northern states, but it would cause a break in the sugar market. And sugar isn't an absolute necessity. And there are a hundred and ten other commodities we could do without equally as well, and really enjoy life.

Of course, the war in Europe may not last long. Hope enough will turn in on Germany to whip her out, and thus stop the war, but some of the big old time war dogs are placing the duration of this war in months and some in years. Six months is a sufficient length of time to knock the steam out of the cotton farmer. He's got to let go before that time, or else. Ten years of prosperity and good prices for cotton have taught the farmers to spend just like it has taught other people. They all handle a lot of money, but they borrow a lot, and make more debts than they ever did, because they expect good prices for cotton. And one cotton crop, at a fall off of three or four cents a pound, spells ruin for some, so fast has the spending habit advanced.

Most of us could cut the grocery bill down a third, for other groceries are not going up as rapidly as sugar. Many of us could make our present supply of clothes last a year, if we didn't look at the fashion books too often. And there are other things that take money, much faster than these. The 1915 model cars will not sell so rapidly as the old models did, in all probability.

Now, it may be that within another week or so the cotton market will open up. If it does, we of the South will get back normal, and will not be interested in the war. A fall off of two cents a pound in cotton means more to the south than two nations flying at each other's throat; with all modern war machinery running fast. But it's the war that's doing it, now.

Montreal, Aug. 19.—Eight hundred French reservists will sail from Montreal tomorrow, according to the announcement at the French pre-consulate today.

IS U. S. NAVY A PRIVILEGE OR A PRISON?

By Dr. Frank Crane.

We do not like to speak disrespectfully of magistrates and of them in authority," but are forced to say that Mr. Secretary of the Navy Daniels is showing alarming symptoms of a common sense, an intelligence, and a human nature hardly consistent with the traditions of his office.

He has recently issued an order decreeing that if an enlisted man overays his leave of absence, gets drunk ashore, or otherwise cracks the smooth perfection of naval discipline he will be dismissed instead of being imprisoned as formerly was the rule. He goes on to say:

"The secretary recognizes that the navy is in time of peace a very large business organization; that any feeling of compulsory detention or banishment on the part of the educated force is undesirable; that the service offers so many advantages, especially to those desiring to make of it a life worth or secure a professional education, that it can be kept fully recruited with men who are willing to obey; and the department therefore holds that overstayed leave, drunkenness on shore, and similar offenses indicate merely that the offender is unfit for the service. These considerations led to the issuance of this new general order for summary discharge rather than imprisonment in the matter of desertion, and to facilitate honorable discharge for those who are disgruntled. It is time to put an end to imprisonment of young men who desire to leave the service. We can get plenty who love it and will be an honor to it."

Whatever may be our notion of militarism, some sort of army and navy will be necessary for years to come.

The curse of military life has been the hangover from the vicious monarchial and class ideas of the Old World. It is time the army and navy were democratized.

The idea that no man can make a good soldier unless he be maimed, browbeaten, and altogether treated like a brute is absurd. In the long run the best soldier will be the most self respecting man.

Strict discipline and prompt, unquestioning obedience are of course essential, but a man does not need to be treated like a convict to learn that.

To deal with a common sailor as a human being, to honor and trust him, to let him quit if he wants to, except under fire, is to insure a higher order of men in the fighting force; and a smaller number of desertions.

The navy of the United States ought not to be a prison, but a place of privilege and honor, toward which communication Secretary Daniels has taken a long step.

SAVE THIS MONEY.

Over $15,000 dollars in fees to county officials can be saved for Houston county if the officials drew a salary instead of fees, and we would have just as competent a set of officials. That $15,000 could be put into good roads for the sections of the county that have none. It is enough to maintain a crew equal in size to the one we now have, and it wouldn't do temporarily, but would continue.

It is likely that the next legislature will be called on to pass a bill for Jefferson county, and some others, abolishing the fee system, and this is a good time for Houston county to come in.

FREE ADVICE TO SICK WOMEN

Thousands Have Been Helped
By Common Sense
Suggestions.

Women suffering from any form of female ill are invited to communicate promptly with the woman's private correspondence department of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established a confidential correspondence which has extended over many years and which has never been broken. Never have they published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which they have to draw from, it is more than possible that they possess the very knowledge needed in your case. Nothing is asked in return except your good will, and their advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-page Text Book. It is not book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it today.

presumably a suicide. His sister-in-law, the Duchess D'Alencon was burned to death in a Paris fire. His wife, Empress Elizabeth was assassinated at Geneva. His eldest brother, Archduke John was lost at sea. His nephew, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, was assassinated.

That the Emperor himself should have eluded death seems nothing short of miraculous. On many occasions he has been in imminent peril of his life and once was stabbed on the ramparts of Vienna by a Hungarian.

The ruler of Italy, Austria's neighbor, has fared little better. King Humbert, after escaping the knife and the pistol many times, was finally shot to death in 1900. As Crown Prince, Victor Emanuel had only just escaped from assassination while on his way to Vienna to attend the funeral of the assassinated Empress Elizabeth. Ever since he ascended the throne his life has been in greater jeopardy.

Perhaps the most uneasy crowned head in all Europe is that of Czar Nicholas of Russia. Of nine Czars, four have been assassinated by nihilists. Countless attempts have been frustrated to remove the present Russian ruler. Bombs have been found in the palace. Traitor on which it was supposed his imperial majesty was riding have been blown up and shots have been fired at the ruler, but he has always escaped.

Many attempts also have been made to kill King Alfonso of Spain. Six of these efforts have been recorded. On the last occasion the would-be assassin chose the unique idea of concealing a bomb in a bouquet of flowers, which was handed to the King as he rode through the streets, after a military review.

Only one attempt to assassinate Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany and this was not confirmed. The alleged incident was not related until long after its occurrence. It was said then that the German newspapers were forbidden at the time to publish the story.

So far as known no attempt has ever been made to assassinate King George V. of England, and no attacks were ever reported on King Edward VII or his mother, Queen Victoria.

The recent assassination of the heir to the throne of the Dual Monarchy furnishes the freshest case in point, and it reminds the world that for forty years the House of Hapsburg—the reigning dynasty of Austria—has been little more than a royal shambles.

"Farewell to youth," said Francis Joseph, when he ascended the throne. His words were recalled the following year when a son of the Countess Karolyi was slain as a rebel in the face war with Hungary. The Countess uttered this fateful curse upon the Emperor's head:

"May his happiness be blighted. May his family be exterminated. May he be smitten to the persons of those he loves. May his life be wrecked and may his children be brought to ruin."

The curse has been fulfilled with the Countess Karolyi a completeness that almost staggers the imagination. The Emperor of Austria-Hungary, a King of brother Maximilian, was shot by his son, the Emperor of Mexico. His eldest Queen of Serbia, a President of son and heir, Crown Prince Rudolph of Italy, a King of Greece, a King and own subjects in Mexico. ## STOMACH TROUBLE FOR FIVE YEARS

Majority of Friends Thought Mr. Hughes Would Die, But One Helped Him to Recovery.

Pomeroyon, Ky.—An interesting advice from this place, Mr. A. J. Hughes writes as follows: "I was down with stomach trouble for five (5) years, and would have sick headache so bad, at times, that I thought surely I would die."

I tried different treatments, but they did not seem to do me any good.

I got so bad, I could not eat or sleep, and all my friends, except one, thought I would die. He advised me to try Thedford's Black-Draught, and quit taking other medicines. I decided to take his advice, although I did not have any confidence in it.

I have now been taking Black-Draught for three months, and it has cured me—haven't had those awful sick headaches since I began using it.

I am so thankful for what Black-Draught has done for me."

Thedford's Black-Draught has been found a very valuable medicine for derangements of the stomach and liver. It is composed of pure, vegetable herbs, contains no dangerous ingredients, and acts gently, yet surely. It can be freely used by young and old, and should be kept in every family chest.

FRIEND O' MINE.

When you are happy, friend o' mine
And all your skins are blue,
Tell me your luck—your fortune
The deeds you mean to do
The gold you've struck, the game you've won
And let me joy with you.

And when you're sad and heart o' cold,
And all your skins are dark
Tell me the dreams that mucked your hold
The chafe that missed the mark,
Am I not yours for woe or woe?
How else can friends prove true?
Tell me what breaks and wings your sore
And let me weep with you.

So when the night falls tremulous,
And the last lamp burns low
And one of us, or both of us
The long, long road must go;
Look with your dear eyes into mine
Give me your hand so true,
Whatever fate our souls await
Let me be there with you.

—Amen.
